United Way British Columbia is strengthening vital connections in BC to support displaced Ukrainians

Since the February 24, 2022 Russian military invasion of Ukraine, the United Nations has documented over 7 million displaced Ukrainians. Despite the ongoing danger, some people are returning to Ukraine while others are continuing their scarcely planned and uncertain journey to British Columbia as their safe haven.

What's the Biggest Need to Support Newcomer Ukrainians?

Housing

Since April 2022, United Way BC has processed free temporary housing offers from community members and connected them with settlement organizations to match hosts with Ukrainians in need. With the war still ongoing there has been a significant decline in housing offers from 10 daily to now one a day.
